Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 25 April 2006.
2a) ☒ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☐ This action is non-final.
3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

Disposition of Claims

DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

The IDS filed 4/25/06 has been considered and placed of record. The initialed copy is attached herewith.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Chen et al. (US 6,008,623) or Anzawa et al. (US 6,373,223). The reference discloses a charge equalizer having, inter alia, a plurality of cells, a monitoring means for tracking the charge in each cell and a microcontroller for transferring charge away and/or to the cells. Bidirectional switches and transformers are selected to perform the charge transfer.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 4/25/06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that his invention deals with the monitoring the state of charge and balancing the state of charge while Chen deals with the equalization of charge and not state of charge. Broadly interpreted, the state of charge would encompass any condition or "state" of the battery including voltage and current as also disclosed by Applicant. Chen also performs these equalization steps while the batteries are being charged.

Applicant also argues that Anzawa does not deal with balancing the state of charge and does not perform the balancing while the battery is being charged or discharged. The same "state of charge" rebuttal applied to Chen is also applicable here to Anzawa. Applicant points out that Anzawa does not equalize the charge during charging or discharging because it can be seen in column 10, lines 41-49 that bulk charging or discharging is not a preferred method. However, column 10, lines 41-49 only say that equalization is not preferred during both charging and discharging (line 41).

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Any inquiry concerning this communication should be directed to the Examiner at the below-listed number on every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.
